Editor's Report

In early February of this year our members' book for 2012, Arming and Disarming: A History of Gun Control in Canada, was the subject of an extensive discussion on the Radio-Canada show Medium Large. Francis Langlois, a history professor at the Cégep de Trois-Rivieres, discussed the book in detail, and gave it high praise as an exemplary piece of scholarship and the definitive study of the topic in Canada. Arming and Disarming has also been featured in a number of other media stories across the country, and received an excellent review in the Literary Review of Canada. All of this suggests to me that the Osgoode Society is doing exactly what it is supposed to do – publishing first-rate scholarly work which attracts the interest not just of the legal profession and the academic world, but of a broader reading audience wanting a deeper knowledge of our national legal history and the ways in which that history continues into and shapes our current world.

In 2012 our publication programme produced an additional three first class books (discussed below), rich in their variety of topics and regions and of exemplary scholarly quality. One of those books, Hunger, Horses and Government Men, has been short-listed for the Canadian Historical Association's Sir John A. Macdonald Prize for 2012, given for the best book in Canadian history. My work as editor-in-chief on this part of our mandate has been greatly assisted by our Associate Editor, Professor Philip Girard, who has recently re-located to Osgoode Hall Law School from Dalhousie. And we have lots more to come – see the discussion below of our 2013 books, led by the Memoirs and Reflections of R. Roy McMurtry.

The oral history programme, our other principal activity, also continues on a steady course. We have now interviewed almost 600 people, and are always receptive to members' suggestions about who we should include. In addition to interviewing prominent members of the profession on our own behalf, we are continuing with co-operative ventures with the judges of the Ontario Court of Justice and the Advocates Society, and with our 'Main Street not Bay Street' initiative.

Members should also check out our new website, which allows memberships and books to be purchased on-line. Like all such ventures it is a work in progress, and in particular, now that the site is up and running, we will be rapidly expanding our new information resource on the site, the Encyclopedia of Canadian Legal History. Check us out at www.osgoodesociety.ca.

I look forward to another successful year, working with our President, Roy McMurtry, Associate Editor Philip Girard and the dedicated Board of Directors. Our administrator Marilyn MacFarlane is invaluable in supporting all the work we do and in running the organisation with superb skill and dedication.

The Publishing Programme

In 2012 The Society published four books.

ANNUAL BOOK

Arming and Disarming: A History of Gun Control in Canada, by R. Blake Brown, Professor of History, St Mary's University.

Although we may think of it as only a contemporary concern, at many times in our history Canadian governments have evinced concern about gun ownership and use. In the first comprehensive history of the subject, Blake Brown looks at gun use and regulation from the early periods of European settlement to the controversy over the gun registry. He shows that rural and urban Canadians have always had very different views about firearms. He also demonstrates that our governments' attitudes towards guns have been complex. At different times governments sought to restrict certain types of guns, or to restrict gun ownership among certain people and in certain locales. On other occasions governments encouraged gun ownership, seeing it as a manly pursuit useful for training citizens to be well versed in the practice of using firearms.

OPTIONAL EXTRAS

We offered members three optional extras.

1. Property on Trial: Canadian Cases in Context, edited by Eric Tucker, Professor, Osgoode Hall Law School, Bruce Ziff and James Muir, Professors, University of Alberta Law School.

This is another volume examining important Canadian cases by exploring their social, political and economic background, similar to Work on Trial (2010) and Race, Rights and Law in the Supreme Court of Canada (1997). The volume takes us from the Newfoundland seal hunt in the nineteenth century to Quebec nuisance law, and to more recent controversies involving restrictive covenants (Galbraith v. Madawaska Club), pollution (KVP), picketing (the Toronto Eaton Centre cases), economic regulation (Manitoba Fisheries), the theft of information (R. v. Stewart), and land use regulation (CPR v. Vancouver).

2. Hunger, Horses, and Government Men: Criminal Law on the Aboriginal Plains, 1870-1905, by Professor Shelley Gavigan, Osgoode Hall Law School.

Professor Gavigan examines the introduction of Canadian criminal law and criminal justice institutions in the old North West (present day Saskatchewan and Alberta) after its acquisition by Canada in 1870. Using newspapers, penitentiary records, Indian department files, and, principally, the records of stipendiary magistrates, she shows the law's impact on the aboriginal peoples of the west, as well as their use of it in coming to terms with the new political reality.

3. The African-Canadian Legal Odyssey: Historical Essays, edited by Professor Barrington Walker, Department of History, Queens University.

This collection of original and republished essays surveys the historical experience of black Canadians and the law. It includes accounts of black legal pioneers, Canadian slave law, case studies of 'private' discrimination, and criminal law cases. The volume includes an extensive introduction by the editor which summarises our knowledge of the black experience and suggests avenues for future research.

IF YOU WISH TO RECEIVE any of the above books, please contact our offices, or visit our website – osgoodesociety.ca – and order on line.

Book Reception

A reception was held at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on November 15th, 2012 to launch the Society's 2012 books.

2013 Publications

ANNUAL BOOK

Memoirs and Reflections, by Roy McMurtry published by the University of Toronto Press.

In addition to his most important accomplishment, the founding of the Osgoode Society, Roy McMurtry recounts and reflects on his years as a criminal defence lawyer, attorney-general of Ontario, High Commissioner to the UK, and Chief Justice of Ontario, and his involvements in many other events and causes. Along the way we are given insights into the patriation of the Constitution, the end of apartheid in South Africa, the Dubin Inquiry, and other milestones. This book is a great read, a modern legal history of Canada and Ontario, and a compelling story of a life well lived.

ALL MEMBERS RECEIVE THIS BOOK AT NO EXTRA CHARGE.

OPTIONAL EXTRAS

1. Lawyers, Families, and Businesses: The Shaping of a Bay Street Law Firm, Faskens, 1863-1963, by C. Ian Kyer, Lawyer and Historian, published by Irwin Law.

Ian Kyer has combined his historical and legal expertise to produce a comprehensive account of the first century of Faskens. He takes us through crucial stages in the development of not just this but many other Canadian law firms – alliances with business, the growth of two or three man partnerships into considerably larger firms, and the links between leading firms and politics. Along the way we see how law practice changed, how remuneration was divided up, how strong leaders stamped their individual personalities on the collective identity of the firm. This is a major contribution to our understanding of the seismic changes in Canadian law practice.

2. The Massey Murder: A Maid, Her Master and the Trial that Shocked a Nation, by Charlotte Gray, Independent Historian, published by Harper Collins.

In 1915 Carrie Davies, an 18-year old servant girl in the home of Charles (Bert) Massey, scion of the famous Massey family, shot and killed her employer as he entered his house after work. Remarkably, she was acquitted, and award winning popular historian Charlotte Gray explains how this happened. Vividly recreating the war time atmosphere, a press war, and conflicts over crime and gender, she highlights the role played by the defence lawyer who exploited the "unwritten law" of an honour killing in a rare Canadian case of jury nullification.

3. Essays in the History of Canadian Law – Volume XI: The Canadas, edited by G. Blaine Baker, Emeritus Professor Law, McGill University, and Donald Fyson, Professor of History, Laval University. Published by the University of Toronto Press.

This latest volume in the Essays in the History of Canadian Law series, with which we launched our publishing programme in 1981, is the first devoted to central Canada - what is now Ontario and Quebec before Confederation. Anchored by a comprehensive introduction exploring the main themes of the legal history of the region, a group of distinguished historians from have contributed 11 substantive essays (three in French), on subjects as varied as women in court, grand juries, western law and aboriginal peoples, gun use and control, Quebec legal literature, married women's property, and imprisonment for debt.

IF YOU WISH TO RECEIVE any of the optional extras, please indicate so on the attached form, and you will be billed when it appears.

The Stuart Thom Fund

In 1998, following receipt of two generous gifts from the estates of Stuart Thom and his wife, Lian, the Osgoode Society established the Stuart Thom Fund. In 1999 and 2000 further grants from the Thom estates totalling $50,000.00, brought the total contribution to $100,000.00. This generosity, unequalled among our personal donors, will go a considerable distance to help ensure that the Osgoode Society is able to carry on its work for many years to come. Details about the current state of the Fund are presented in our Financial Statements.

The Society hopes that other possible benefactors may see fit to follow this example and to remember the Society in their estate planning. All donations and bequests will receive charitable receipts for income tax purposes.

Oral History

The Society's Oral History Programme is a unique and invaluable source of information on all aspects of our legal past. The interviews have been used extensively in scholarly research and the programme has gained a wide reputation across Canada and beyond for the quality and scope of its work. Several of our programmes are privately funded, for example by law firms, judges' associations etc., and we are pleased to discuss possible sponsorship with interested parties.

We have been privileged over the past several years to have co-sponsored oral history programmes with several bodies and organizations. We thank The Advocates' Society and The Ontario Conference of Judges.

From the programme's inception, most of the interviews have been carried out by Christine Kates. For the past few years we have also been fortunate to be able to employ the skills of Cynthia Smith. We are now using a third interviewer, Rosemary Legris. The assistance of volunteer interviewers remains important. If you wish to act as a volunteer interviewer, please contact the Society.

The number of legal professionals interviewed through the programme between 1979 and 2012 totals 600 with approximately 90,000 pages of transcript. For a complete listing of all interviews conducted for the Osgoode Society oral history programme, please contact Marilyn MacFarlane at mmacfarl@lsuc.on.ca Or consult our website where you will find a chronological and alphabetical list.

Terms of Access to the Osgoode Society Collection All tapes are transcribed and tapes and transcripts are placed in the Archives of Ontario for safekeeping. Each interviewee may close all or part of the material for a period of years and may also make the material available as he or she sees fit. The Osgoode Society retains copyright to the material. No portion of the material may be photocopied without written permission from the Osgoode Society. The material contained in the Osgoode Society Collection is intended for legal, historical, genealogical or other worthwhile research. It must be used at the Archives of Ontario. ### INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Members of The Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History:

Report on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of The Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History, which comprise the statement of financial position at December 31, 2012 and the statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-for-Profit Organizations and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Canadian generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Basis for Qualified Opinion

As with many charitable organizations, the Society derives revenue from donations, the completeness of which is not susceptible to satisfactory audit verification. Accordingly, our verification of donations was limited to the amounts recorded in the records of the Society and we were not able to determine whether any adjustments might be necessary to donations, operations for the year, assets and net assets.

Qualified opinion

In our opinion, except for the possible effects of the matter described in the Basis for Qualified Opinion paragraph, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of The Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History as at December 31, 2012 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-for-Profit Organizations.

Comparative Information

Without modifying our opinion, we draw attention to Note 1 to the financial statements which describes that The Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History adopted Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-for-Profit Organizations on January 1, 2012, with a transition date of January 1, 2011. These standards were applied retrospectively by management to the comparative information in these financial statements, including the statement of financial position as at December 31, 2011 and January 1, 2011, and the statements operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2011 and related disclosures. We were not engaged to report on the restated comparative information and, as such, it is unaudited.

THE OSGOODE SOCIETY FOR CANADIAN LEGAL HISTORY

FOR THE YEAR ENDED DECEMBER 31, 2012

1. ACCOUNTING CHANGES

(a) TRANSITION TO ACCOUNTING STANDARDS FOR NOT-FOR-PROFIT ORGANIZATIONS

Effective January 1, 2012, The Osgoode Society for Canadian Legal History (the "Society") adopted Canadian Accounting Standards for Not-for-Profit Organizations (ASNPO), Part III of the CICA Handbook. This framework is in accordance with Canadian Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP). These are the first financial statements prepared in accordance with this framework, which has been applied retrospectively. The accounting policies set out in the significant accounting policies note were applied in preparing the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2012, the comparative information presented in the financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2011 and in the preparation of the opening statement of financial position at January 1, 2011, which was the date of transition.

The Society issued financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2011 using GAAP prescribe by Part V of the CICA Handbook. The adoption of ASNPO had no impact on previously reported assets, liabilities and net assets, and accordingly, no adjustments have been recorded in the comparative statement of financial position, statement of operations, statement of changes in net assets and the statement of cash flows.

(b) ADOPTION OF FUND ACCOUNTING

In conjunction with the transition to ASNPO, the Society adopted fund accounting. The decision to change from deferred contribution accounting to restricted fund accounting was made to better reflect the activities of the organization.

For the year ended December 31, 2012, excess (deficiency) of revenue over expenditures reduced from a deficiency of $61,796 to a deficiency of $61,316, which relates to the excess (deficiency) of revenue over expenditures for the John T. Saywell Prize and the McMurtry Fellowship.

For the year ended December 31, 2011, excess (deficiency) of revenue over expenditures reduced from a deficiency of $11,688 to a deficiency of $17,019, which relates to the excess (deficiency) of revenue over expenditures for the John T. Saywell Prize, The Peter Oliver Memorial Prize and the McMurtry Fellowship.

2. PURPOSE OF THE ORGANIZATION

The Society was formed to study and promote public interest in the history of the law, the legal profession and the judiciary in Ontario and elsewhere in Canada and to stimulate research and publication on these subjects.

The Society meets these objectives by publishing books on Canadian legal history, sponsoring the collection of oral histories from individuals within the legal community, providing research and publication grants, and sponsoring and hosting legal history seminars.

The Society is incorporated, without share capital, under Letters Patent. The Society has been granted tax exempt status as a charitable organization under the Income Tax Act of Canada (the "Act"). In order to maintain the exempt status under the Act, the Society must meet certain requirements within the Act. In the opinion of management, these requirements have been met.

The Society is party to an agreement to produce a publication planned for 2014. The agreement requires the following minimum amounts to be paid. Funding for the project has been secured through a grant from the Law Foundation of Ontario:

2013 100,0002014 50,000

These amounts have not been recognized as a liability of the Society as the terms requiring payment have not been met.

13. FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

The Society's financial investments comprise short term deposits, the main purpose of which is to provide financing for the organization's activities. It is the Society's policy that investments are redeemed as cash flow dictates. The Society has various other financial assets and liabilities such as accounts receivables and accounts payables, which arise directly from operations. The main risk arising from the Society's financial instruments are interest rate risk and credit risk.

(a) Interest Rate Risk Exposure

Exposure to the risk of changes in market interest rates relates to the Society's cash and investment balances. The Society manages this risk by investing in fixed rate investment instruments.

(b) Credit Risk Exposure

Credit risk on the financial assets of the Society equates to the carrying amount. The Society carries receivables from members of the organization and recognized third parties. Receivable balances are monitored on a regular basis to minimize the exposure to bad debt. Credit risk associated with cash and investments is limited to the risk of default by the counter party, with a maximum exposure equal to the carrying amount of these assets.
